1966 HILLIFE

Chapel Hill Senior High School

Chapel Hill, North Carolina

This 1965-66 school year marks the end in the use of our present school building which no longer can accommodate the student body. The many problems aroused by lack of space, construction work nearby, and improper facilities have evoked an important realization from students and school personnel: the success of our school depends upon the people alone, and no outside conditions can alter this success if the people are determined. Bearing this in mind, the theme of the 1966 HILLIFE concerns itself with these people, the students of CHSHS, their interests, their activities, and their efforts toward improving the school. The HILLIFE pays tribute to these people by showing them in the traditions and everyday life they have created as characteristic of Chapel Hill Senior High School.

Mrs. Wheeler helps John LaPrelle, Gordon Kage, and Marjorie Howard sort paperback books after sophomore book drive.

Seniors Honor Mrs. Wheeler

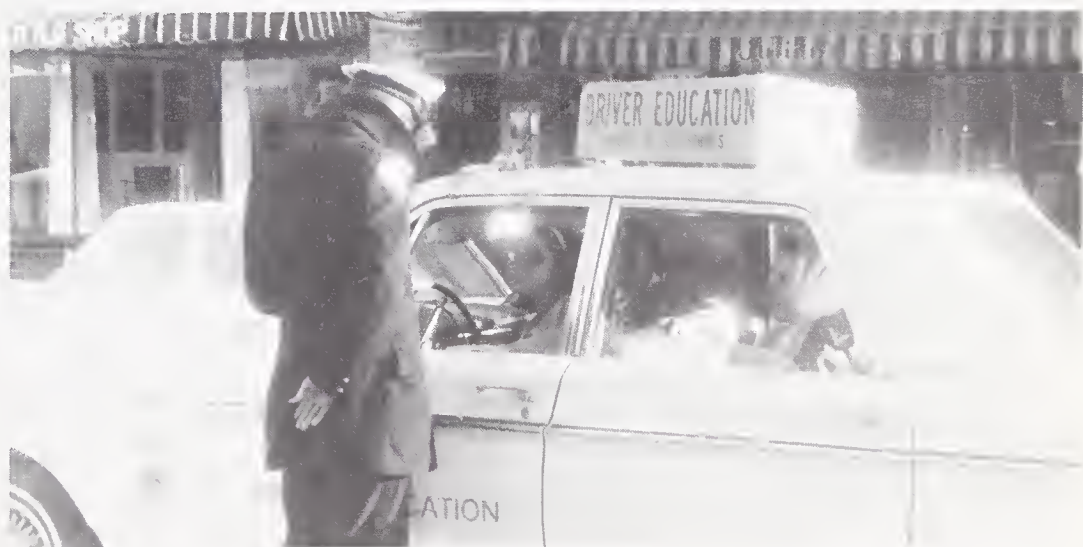

In teaching biology, Mrs. Wheeler gives complete attention to every student and transmits to each an interest in her subject. An evidence of her interest is the Biology Club, which she instigated and now advises. Outside of school hours, she gives both time and patience in teaching Driver's Education.

Adding further to her responsibilities, Mrs. Wheeler acts as Sophomore Class Advisor. Before she assumed this position, the sophomore class had not been an important one in raising money for the Junior-Senior and Senior Gift. Now, over half the money needed in the next years is raised under Mrs. Wheeler's guidance.

Mrs. Wheeler built for us, as sophomores, an excellent foundation for our high school years. She gave us a solid basis for scholastic achievement while at the same time her firm but gentle guidance in class projects led us successfully through cartoon shows, carnivals, book drives, and bake sales. Because of her work with us as sophomores and her constant help and cheerfulness to us as upperclassmen, the Senior Class proudly dedicates this 1966 HILLIFE to Mrs. Mary Lou B. Wheeler.

Mrs. Wheeler uses Sam, her lab partner, to supplement her biology course.

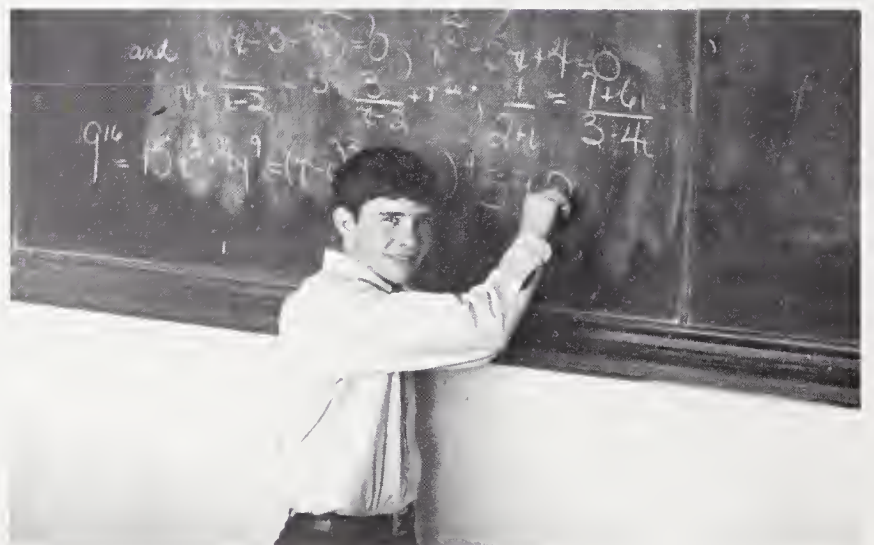

Mrs. Wheeler explains to officer about her Driver's Education class.

Because all school land besides that on which the building itself stands was sold, Chapel Hill Senior High School is surrounded by construction. As soon as the building is vacated in June, it will be torn down and even more construction will begin. The atmosphere of pounding hammers and screeching drills is not often conducive to orderly classes. In addition to the construction, the school is plagued with crowded halls, inadequate locker space, and parking problems. These conditions, however, are accepted and dealt with so efficiently by the people at Chapel Hill Senior High School that they cease to be problems.

Every student has a separate schedule involving different faces and events which make up his own daily routine. While all the events are basically the same, this routine is familiar only to one person. Thus it is only the people involved in these happenings that distinguishes the daily life of one person from that of another.

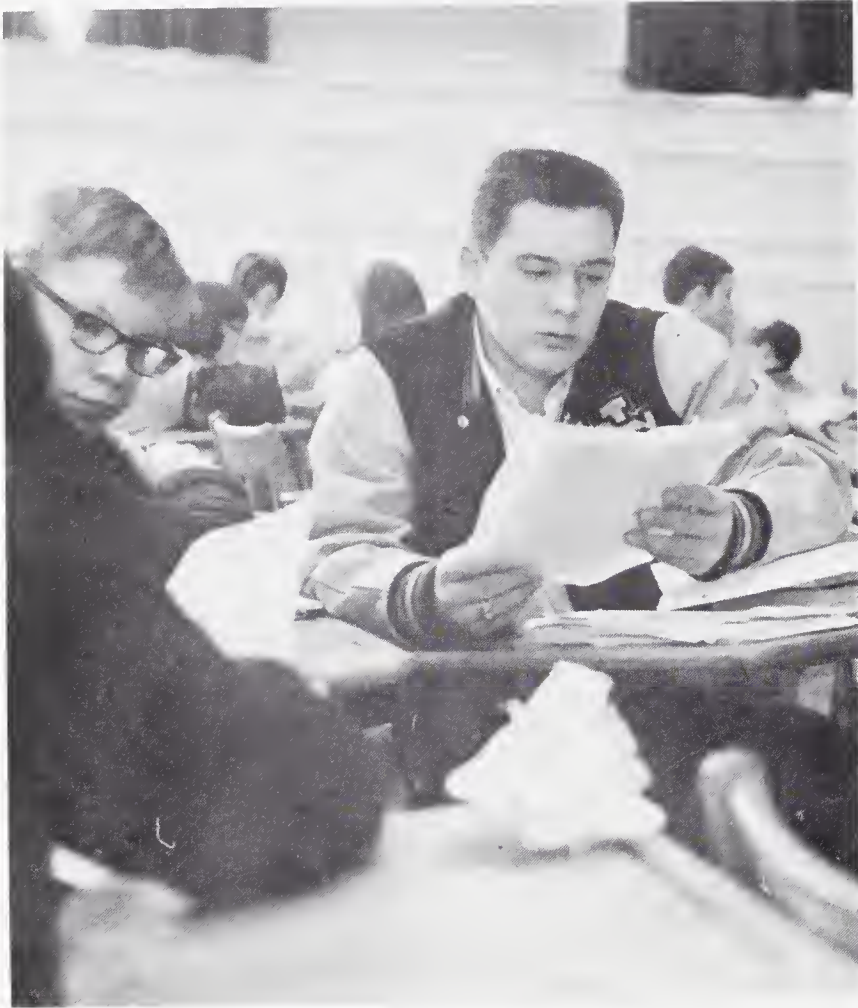

Stemming from everyday life is the traditional aspect of CHSHS. Yearly, new traditions emerge from the character of the student body, but at the same time, old customs are also continued. Within classes there are the traditional projects and courses, while the school as a whole clings to events such as Homecoming, exams, and class rivalry. The new traditions are not only a result of student uprisings against the old way but also the repetition of daily actions. All of these traditions combine to form one face of the student body.

Each person has responsibilities to himself, to the school, and to the community. Many of these obligations are accepted individually such as jobs, school offices, and optimum success from educational opportunities. Group responsibility in worthwhile projects and participation in athletics are equally important, for both lead to a better preparation for future duties. Realizing this, the people of Chapel Hill Senior High School face the challenge of accepting this responsibility.

Through traditions, problems, everyday life, and responsibility, the character of CHSHS is developed and the personality of the people is seen.

ACADEMICS

At Chapel Hill Senior High School the curriculum is catered to meet each student's plans for his future. For those preparing to go on to college, the high school gives a basic background for advanced study. Commercial classes prepare students for businesses as well as for further study. Through the administration's teaching, guiding, and introducing new facets of life, one is able intellectually to enter the world as an adult.

Administrators Anticipate Opportunities of New Facilities

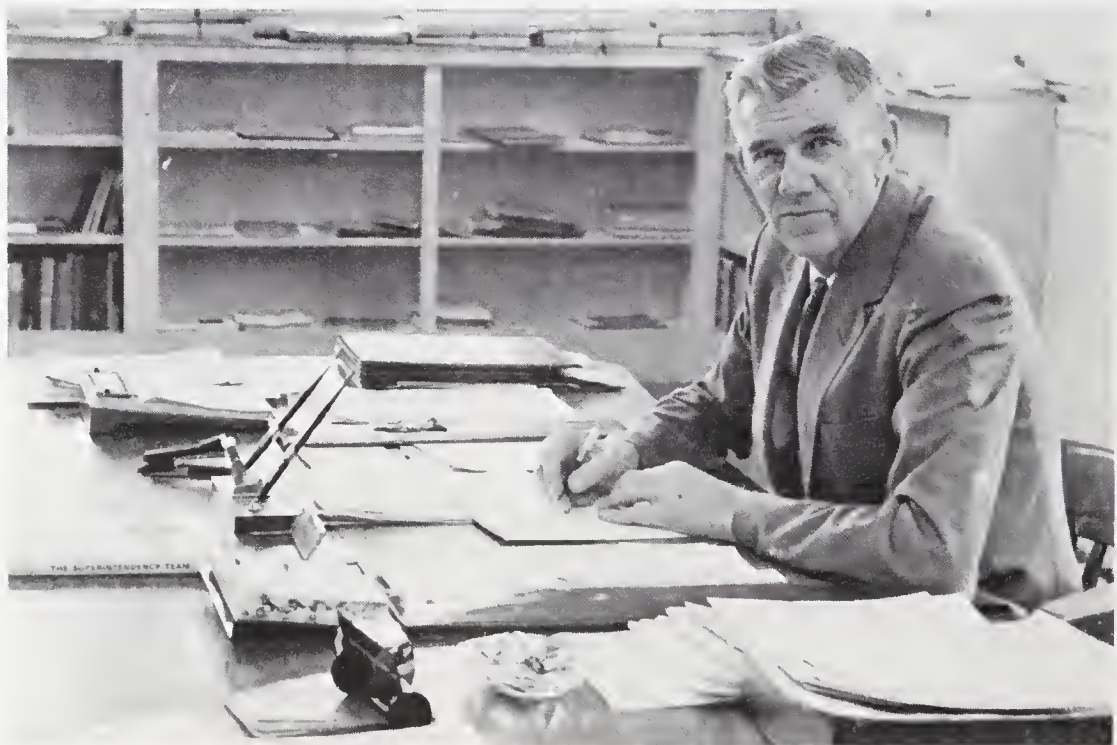

New to the Chapel Hill school system is Dr. Willard Swiers, who is in his first year as Chief Administrator of the Chapel Hill City Schools. Moving to Chapel Hill from Fayetteville, Dr. Swiers immediately plunged into overseeing the construction of the new high school complex, which is to be ready for occupancy in the summer of 1966. Located on an eighty acre campus, the school will include double the capacity of the present facilities, accomodating 1200 students.

Following the footsteps of Superintendent Howard Thompson, Dr. Swiers's main interests lie in furthering the vocational, educational opportunities within the high school, primarily for those who do not plan to attend college.

The principal, Miss May Marshbanks, has activities ranging from gathering parts and reconstructing an ancient Model T. to maintaining and sustaining CHSHS. As North Carolina's only woman public high school principal, Miss Marshbanks, who directs the administration at CHSHS, eagerly awaits the completion of the new school which will open new and broader fields of study to the students. Her devotion is demonstrated through her great interest in all phases of school life.

Library and Guidance Offer Many Benefits

Mrs. Peacock discusses outside reading material with Miss Wilkin.

The nucleus of any school is the library where the librarian fights an endless battle of overdue books, unpaid fines, and the ever occurring problem of noise. Despite these difficulties, Mrs. Helen Peacock has maintained the high standards of the CHSHS library, is ever ready to assist in helping students to select supplementary books, and continues the now traditional library orientation program for the sophomores. The library presently maintains a total of 13,000 books, almost twenty books per student, and the current problem is finding the space to house the material so that every student will have access to it. Student assistants who are members of the library club perform many duties such as stamping books and distributing over-due slips.

Although in his first year at CHSHS, Mr. William Latham has already come in contact with almost every student at least once. He advises students in their search for a summer job, in planning schedules, and in almost every problem which arises. Seniors especially consult him about the all-important decisions of which college to attend and about how to complete the many transcripts which accompany every application. His office is one which is always filled — from the time the school doors open in the morning until they close at night — with many eager students seeking his advice and guidance.

Colonel William Chrietberg explains a fine point in the high school plans to the School Board.

Community Promotes School Activities

Office assistants are students who give up their study hall to act as receptionists in the principal's office. Here they sort mail, answer the telephone, check attendance cards, and write excuses for other students. Ginger Kinney, who handles all secretarial work, supervises this group.

The PTSA has foregone all major projects in order to concentrate on the construction of the new high school. Annually this organization holds a "parent's night" at the high school during which the parents come and follow the schedules of their sons and daughters. This allows them to meet the teachers whom their children will be working with for the coming year. The Thrift Shop, run by the PTSA, finances many of the association's projects.

The School Board consists of representatives elected from Chapel Hill and Carrboro. The Board is responsible for all the major policy decisions concerning the Chapel Hill Schools. Currently, the Board is concerned with outlining the facilities of the new high school.

Office Assistants: Lynn Slome, Kai Thomas, Carolyn Brafford, Peggy Wheeler, Lynette Buckner, Gayle Hardee, and Nita Wilcox.

PTSA sponsors local Thrift Shop.

Dedicated Staff Serves High School Well

Custodians: Thomas Morrow, Pauline Edwards, and Thomas Pendergraft.

Kitchen Assistants: Wilson Hackney, Anna Belle Lloyd, Maude Holloway, Manager, Voncile Alford, Mary Perry.

Under the direction of Mrs. Hilda Moffitt, the Chapel Hill Senior High School cafeteria staff prepares meals which daily fortify a large per cent of the student body. Besides these usual duties, the staff is also in charge of the various banquets and dinners held by school organizations throughout the year. Examples of this are the D. E. Bosses Banquet and the Jr. -Sr. Dinner.

Another vital institution at CHSHS is the janitorial staff including Big and Little Thomas and Pauline Edwards. Although they keep busy cleaning up after 750 students, the Thomases are ever-ready with a hammer, a ladder, or a smile, to lend a helping hand with any problem which should arise.

The bus drivers awake each morning before the sun is up to drive a total of 250 miles. They are the sole means of transportation to and from school for many students in all levels of the Chapel Hill School System.

Bus Drivers: Herman Holman, Larry Nunn, Robert Home, Mike Pendergraft, Chris Dressler, Joan Clark, Raymond Scott, Charles Street, and Stanley Vickers.

Chapel Hill Senior High School places definite emphasis on the appreciation and understanding of English grammar and literature.

Sophomores study The Pearl, and "Julius Caesar," while also reviewing and enriching their knowledge of grammar. Through records and individual participation, the realm of poetry opens to the student. In the junior year, the study involves only American literature and its development from its beginning until modern times. Read by all juniors, The Scarlet Letter, Moby Dick, and A Separate Peace represent phases in the above development. Also an important part of American literature is drama, studied in the form of such plays as "The Crucible," "JB," and "The Glass Menagerie."

Senior English encompasses a grammar review and structural linguistics, the most outstanding literature of the British from Beowulf to the twentieth century, and precis writing. Required also for seniors is a term paper on an approved subject.

Special Emphasis on Literature and Grammar

World Literature, an extensive course, is a survey of Oriental and European culture. This corresponds to World History and brings life into the subject matter by relating art, music, and literature to the people and the times. Supplemented by various speakers, movies, and student trips, this course requires much outside reading.

Another aspect of the English Department is the creative writing class which encourages students to express themselves by composing themes, poems, or other forms of literary work. For students interested in newspaper work, there is a journalism course. A newspaper staff picked from this class is responsible for producing a paper every two weeks.

Mrs. Sullivan directs the sophomores in writing their first book report.

Students choose from Latin, French, and Spanish, three of the best known and most widely used languages in the world today, to complete their foreign language requirements. The first years of any language devote the studies to the mechanics of the language with only slight emphasis on extra-curricular reading. After the basics are learned, the student moves on to explore the various aspects of the country, both cultural and literary, bearing in mind that communication is still the first objective.

In Latin, the mother language, the students explore Roman History and mythology, Caesar's Gullic Wars, Vergil's Aeneid, and Ovid's Metamorphosis. In Spanish the students learn of the customs, the people, and the literature of the Spanish speaking countries. Recently, listening and understanding is greatly emphasized, and the American Studies Abroad program is promoted. This is a six weeks study in Salamanca, Spain for Spanish students.

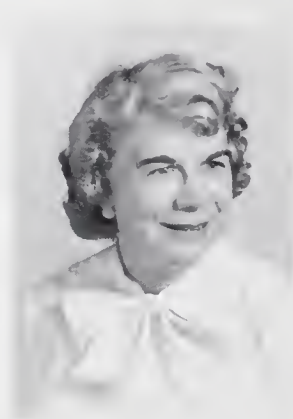

In French, the only language which offers five full years, the students learn of the people, customs, history, and literature of the French-speaking countries. Through tapes, books, and films students gain a near first-hand knowledge of their language. The plan of American Studies Abroad is also offered to French students.

As well as being interesting, studying a language enriches and strengthens the students' understanding of the people around the world.

Science Encourages Student Use of Laboratories

Mr. William Futrell
Chemistry,
Science Club Advisor

The study of the sciences leads to an understanding of natural laws and phenomena, both biological and physical. This study, in turn, enables the individual to solve the physical, social, and personal problems that he will face throughout life.

In biology, students are acquainted with Sam, the skeleton, in order to learn the functions of the human body as well as those of other animals. Chromosomes, organisms, and cells, along with the study habits and mannerisms of the frog, the fish, and the crayfish, present an evidence of life's miracles.

Chemistry goes even further in the field of biology and explores the chemical make up of substances. Included in this course are the following: organic chemistry, electricity, acids, bases, and salts, and other aspects of chemical life. Spending many class periods in the lab, the students learn to apply facts through experimentation.

Physics, another lab course, is a study of properties, changes, and the interaction of matter and energy. Students encounter a course involving algebra, geometry, and trigonometry, as well as the natural laws of science. General Science is a brief survey of all the above concepts.

A new course this year is Health Occupations. This emphasizes occupations, techniques, and equipment used in hospitals and other areas.

Mathematics Points Way to the Future

Mathematics is a universal method of communication. Chapel Hill Senior High School offers a wide variety of courses including Algebra I and II, Geometry, Trigonometry, Elementary Functions, and Matrix Algebra. Business Math educates the student in the practical application of his studies. Instruction as well as self-investigation through projects opens a new world to the students.

The math program at CHSHS is now almost entirely based on the SMSG system. SMSG is a modern math that teaches background of various theorems and postulates instead of allowing complete memorization.

In following the math program, pupils start with Algebra I and II, learning the fundamentals of algebra by systems and operations of the numbers. Geometry teaches a method of systematic proofs through a knowledge of sets and theorems. Following is Math IV, which is divided into sections on Analytic Geometry, Trigonometry, Statistics, Calculus, and Probability. Math V concludes the program with one semester of functions and the other on Matrix Algebra. The versatility of math in today's world is shown through these courses.

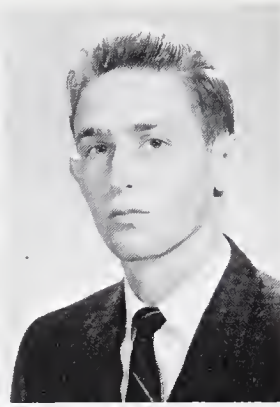

Mrs. McConnell explains a difficult problem

Students View World Problems

With the ultimate goal of giving the student a better understanding of the world today, the Social Studies Department at CHSHS correlates economics, sociology, and the political sciences. World Geography introduces the student to each country, giving first the geographic and then the political and cultural side. World History then explores the development of man from the beginning of time to the present day. Miss Helen Wilkin and Miss Eloise Baynes strive to coordinate the World History material with that of World Literature.

In order to familiarize each student with his own country, U.S. History is required in the junior year. This course enables the student to follow the past and present of his own heritage and to understand the trends of historical events.

In the economics-sociology course, economics is taught the first semester whereas sociology is the concern of the second semester. Economics has a great influence on practically every aspect of life, and the main purpose of the course is to train the students to think analytically. Sociology introduces the students to social problems, such as juvenile delinquency, poverty, and alcoholism. Visiting lecturers, and outside research supplement the course work.

Business Courses Meet Vocational Needs

Mr. Aaron M. Conn
ICT I, II, VIC Advisor

Chapel Hill Senior High School is interested in all phases of the development of the student. Such courses as Distributive Education orient interested students to a business or retailing career. The students attend classes only part of the day, leaving school at lunch to report to their various jobs and to learn the "tricks of the trade" first hand. Students in this program may join the D.E. Club which is active both in state and nation-wide competition. The Industrial Commercial Training Program (I.C.T.), supervised by Mr. Conn, is an effort of businesses, industries, and schools to train the student in occupational areas of his choice. I.C.T. provides opportunities for the student to prepare for immediate employment in fields such as mechanics, carpentry, and electronics after graduation.

Typing I and II offer the student a complete course in the typing arts whereas a course in Personal Typing extends through one semester and Notetaking through the second. Bookkeeping rounds out the vocational program of the high school. All of these courses are an asset not only in jobs but also in studies.

Electives Further Interests

The girls in the Home Economics class learn about their roles as the homemakers of tomorrow. This course involves two semesters of study with the first emphasizing sewing and the second, cooking and homemaking. Mrs. Johnston is always ready to give the girls housekeeping hints that make maintaining a household much easier.

Through the competitive games and exercises in Physical Education, the student develops himself individually and as a member of a team. The students play basketball and soccer, have archery lessons, and tumble. One year of Physical Education is required for graduation and any additional years are elective.

Art is an often neglected part of a person's development, however a great interest is shown in this course at Chapel Hill Senior High School. This two-year program explores oils, ceramics, sketching, and sculpture. One aspect of particular interest to the students is jewelry-making; this art employs the mind and the hands and also demands use of the imagination. Another center of interest is the numerous art shows which occur periodically.

Mechanical Drawing, a course which cultivates skill in lettering, construction, and three-dimensional drawing, has only been in the Chapel Hill Senior High School curriculum for the past three years.

Band, Chorus Perform for Community

Although the chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Madge Harry, has only been in existence for two years, it is a point of pride at CHSHS. The chorus performs at inter-demoninational church services, entertains both the senior and junior high schools at assemblies, and sings in the annual community program sponsored by the Chapel Hill City Schools. In order to become better acquainted with the fundamentals of music, the chorus members must take a course encompassing various composers and their works.

Another organization which the school is proud of is the CHSHS Band. The Band, under the direction of Mr. Hugh Preble, made its debut at the 1965 Homecoming and greeted the rooting spectators with strains from "The Sound of Music." Although it is limited in number, the Band has also performed in various programs, including a Christmas program at the Junior High.

Because of lack of funds the Band was discontinued three years ago, but an effort is now being made to rebuild it entirely.

Band members set up before a Band rehearsal.

Class of '66 Progresses Onward

GO ONWARD!

Coming to Chapel Hill Senior High School in the fall of 1963, we began to establish ourselves as an active group with initiative, creativity, and good leadership. We did not give an inch to the haughty upperclassmen, because we, as sophomores, exhibited a pride in ourselves and our place in school which was unprecedented.

We elected Sue Hickey our president, Kent Collins our vice-president, and chose Sean Ripperton, Martha Taylor, and Angie Galloway to serve on the class council with them. Our Sadie Hawkins Dance brought in our first funds; our sophomore book drive and our cartoon show, along with bake sales, added money to the treasury. The spring brought an original idea and $250—the Sophomore Carnival. We had proved our worth by making over $550 during our first year in CHSHS.

We had studied with vigor Julius Caesar, frogs and fungi, Ellie's World Geography, and had seen the last year of the small study hall. With Mrs. Wheeler's help, we had met with great success; we had shown that we could handle the big job cut out for us. We looked ahead...

ONWARD!

We opened our second year with determination, desire to work, and readiness for the tough year ahead. Once again Sue Hickey was elected president. To help direct our Junior-Senior effort, the class council of Claudia Chanlett, vice-president; Sean Ripperton, treasurer; Angie Galloway, secretary; and Colin Stewart, associate justice, backed her up. This year's innovation to the council was the election of three social chairmen, the planning geniuses of our great Junior-Senior team: Mary Sitterson, Becky Bodenheimer, and Charlie Brickhouse.

Carol Mallard must be tactful to catch the "Tacky Man."

Happiness is a bulletin board cluttered with mementos.

We threw our support behind SCA, UCYM, and other school-wide organizations. Kent Collins persistently tried to add money to the SCA treasury as Student Council coin-keeper; George Penick was the state's DE wonder-boy as he racked up sundry honors. Juniors helped lead the athletic attacks which brought CHSHS high state positions in football, basketball, cross country, and track.

In preparation for college, we took PSAT's, National Merits, and on May 1, 1965, we had our first glimpse of the all important SAT's. Our literary knowledge was bolstered as we met Hester, Ahab, and the earthy, six-feet under people of Spoon River. Mrs. Sommerfeld got more of us in her math classes this year, but she got ALL of us when she became class advisor due to Ellie's departure.

We'll never forget the sleepless nights she (Mrs. S.) suffered during Junior Follies and Junior-Senior times, but longer will we remember her helping hand through those pressing weeks. The "Land of Oz" was our pride and joy, our pet project, the culmination of two years of hard work. We'll remember the rose-making and mural-painting parties at Sue's, the rafter-climbing that all the boys enjoyed, the immortal "balloon" over the bandstand, the forest that we brought in Amy's truck, and the great fun we had singing "Once a Day" as we built the "Land of Oz" from the yellow-brick road to the Emerald City. Finally, WMF's Approved stamp on our murals signalled readiness and on May 14, 1965, our class led the Seniors down the yellow-brick road. A few short hours later, the greatest Junior-Senior of them all was history, and everybody took off for the beaches.

We elected class officers in the first spring class elections ever, received our annuals, smiled with pride at our great year, took exams, and watched the seniors leave to make way for us. We prepared to accept the privileges and to meet the responsibilities of the coming year...

ALWAYS ONWARD!

The fall of 1965 returned us to CHSHS as mighty Seniors, with our own song and our pride fiercer than ever. We were ready to fill the positions of responsibility that awaited us. Bland Simpson took office as president of the class, Robert Humphreys held the vice-presidency, Lyn Phillips and Charlotte Wardlaw became secretary and treasurer, respectively. We were represented on the Honor Council by Susan Dixon and David Barnes.

Now the whole school was ours—Colin Stewart led the SCA as president, with George Penick serving as vice-president and Lawrence Yaggy as treasurer. Angie Galloway headed the Honor Council and Mary Sitterson led the cheers, advancing the cause in the stands when the going on the field got tough.

We got our rings and pictures, showed our originality with our "Tacky Party," ordered calling cards and sent invitations, had our picnic, and, at last, put on our caps and gowns. Graduation day, that day we had eagerly awaited since sophomore orientation, had finally come. Only then did we realize that our high school years had gone all too quickly, for we began to miss CHSHS even before we left. The climax had come; our "finest hour" was here. We felt the "Pomp and Circumstance," the pageantry of Graduation. We left CHSHS with fond memories of our high school backgrounds and bright hopes for our futures; we left, having learned that the tough way is often the best way; we left as we came, going onward, always onward.

Seniors Receive Honors

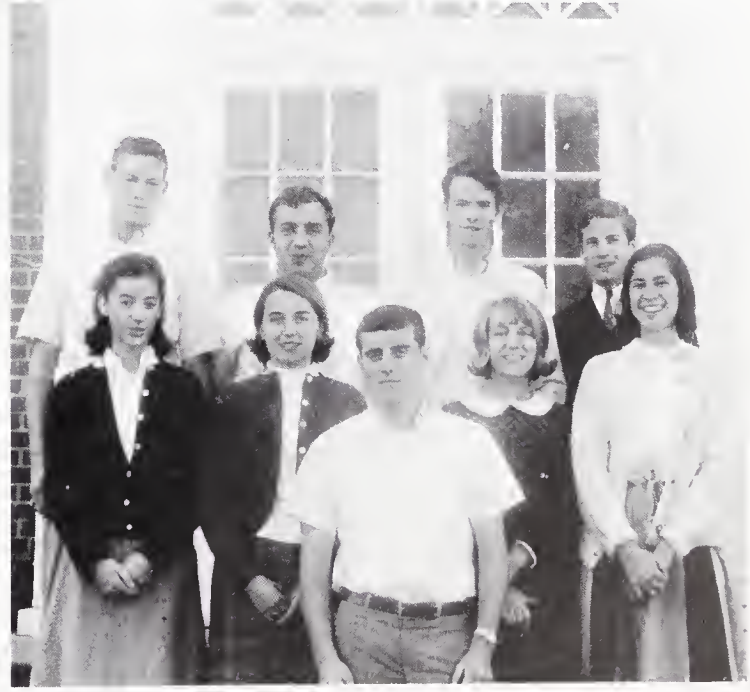

Girls' State: Sue Hickey and Becky Bodenheimer were sent by the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion as representatives of Chapel Hill at Girls' State. There they had an opportunity to better understand the functions of the city, county, and state government.

Boys' State: Bland Simpson, Dave Harrison, Ed Carson, Steve Floyd, Donnie Carroll and Jack Allison acted as delegates to Boys' State. Sent by the American Legion and the Institute of Government, they studied various governmental activities.

MOST STUDIOUS - Angie Galloway, Colin Stewart. Angie and Colin have demonstrated their "most studious" aspect in constantly making top grades and at the same time participating in extra-curricular activities. Both are members of the National Honor Society.

MOST TALENTED - Belvie Douglas, Bobby Scott. Bobby's active part in the Nomads combo as music arranger and lead guitar player and Belvie's talent for singing are recognized by CHSHS. They are OUR stars.

BEST ALL AROUND - Sue Hickey, Charlie Brickhouse. Sue served as class president during her sophomore and junior years and as co-editor of the HILLIFE in her senior year while Charlie was one of the junior class social chairmen and tri-captain of the football team. They are both members of the National Honor Society and the Spanish Honor Society.

MOST ATHLETIC - Sue Hickey, Pat Thompson. Sue starred for the Kittens three years and acted as co-captain of the team in her senior year as well as quarter-backing the seniors to victory in the Powder Puff football game. Pat was co-captain of the basketball team and tri-captain of the football team while being active in various other sports.

FRIENDLIEST - Linda Holloway, Charlie Brickhouse. The kindness, consideration, and assistance of both Linda and Charlie have helped to brighten the atmosphere of CHSHS.

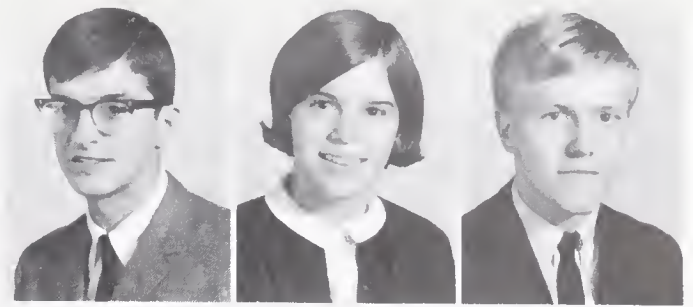

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED - Claudia Chanlett, Bland Simpson. The students and faculty have voted Bland and Claudia to many positions of responsibility throughout the high school years as is evident by Bland's presidency of the senior class and Claudia's Proconian editorship.

ACTIVITIES

Clubs are the most all-encompassing activity in Chapel Hill Senior High School. One day each month a "club schedule" runs, cutting classes short to allow an hour for each group to meet during the school day; after school, organizations such as Student Council and the Honor Council meet. Each year we see the influence of people as new clubs develop and old ones cease with the interest of the group.

The Student Council promotes citizenship and democracy through its many activities. The Council, composed of thirty homeroom representatives, seven Honor Council members, and the executive board, meets every Monday afternoon to discuss school business. The SCA is also in charge of operating the school store, caring for the school, maintaining clubs, holding dances, and sponsoring the Sophomore Orientation.

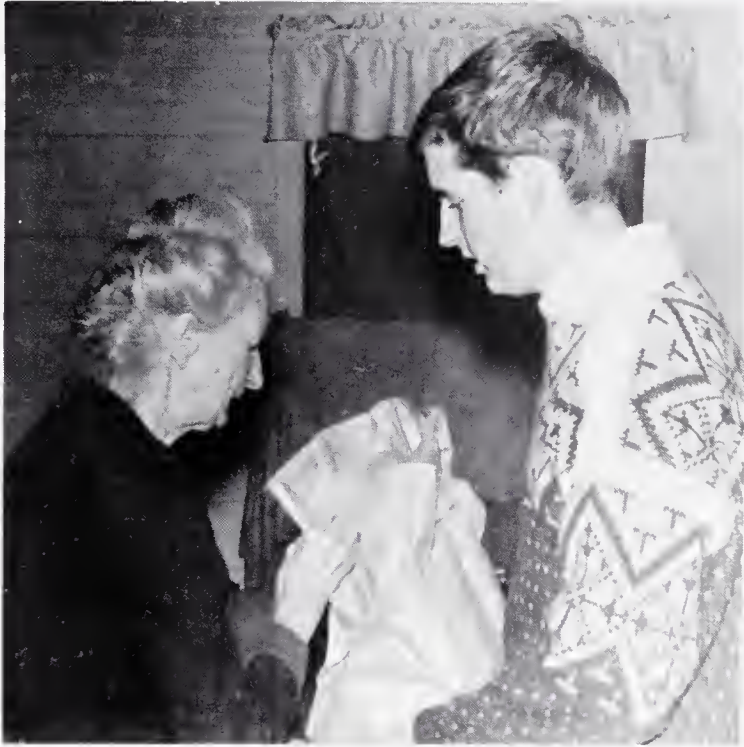

In the early fall the SCA gave a "Get Acquainted Dance." A barbecue held at the end of October was followed by the SCA sponsored Homecoming. The annual Thanksgiving project consisted of collecting cans for needy families in the Chapel Hill-Carrboro area. Stunt Night was held the day school closed for Christmas vacation and netted $120. For the Christmas project, the SCA organized the adoption of Thom, a South Vietnamese girl. The Student Council also distributed food to a few families with extra Christmas money. In February they held a Pancake Day with all the clubs donating workers for this event. In turn the Council dispersed their profits among the clubs. The year proved to be a successful one for building up the school treasury which has slowly diminished since the closing of Snack Shack.

Advisors: Mrs. Edwards and Miss Spoon.

Student Council: Enterprise,

COMMITTEE HEADS: Joe Philips, Kim Page, George Penick, Barbara Thomas, Larry Yaggy, Lyn Phillips, Vicki Wyszynski.

STUDENT-FACULTY REVIEW BOARD: Seated: Angie Gallo-way, Kaaren Henry, Dyan Gooch. Standing: Worth Penick, Steve Floyd, Elinor Allcott, Mr. Harper, Mrs. Sullivan, Miss Baynes, Hank Brandis, Lorna Cadmus.

The Honor Council Innovates Major Changes

The 1965-1966 school year marked the beginning of a new era for the Honor Council. The student body passed amendments concerning the number of justices, minor offenses, plus many other revisions on their past system.

Under the constitution as it now stands, each class, in the spring of the year, elects two justices to represent them in the Honor Council; the student body chooses a "chief" justice to head the Council.

Among the Council's many duties are the orienting of sophomores and new students to the practices of the Honor Council during the Sophomore Orientation, holding all trials for students who have been charged with committing an offense, and talking to ninth graders in the spring of each year on the Honor Council's policies.

The new Student-Faculty Review Board, composed of seven students and four teachers, was created by the amendments passed in the spring of '65. This board evaluates the Honor Council and gives suggestions for improvement and changes.

Seated: Marki Berry, Angie Galloway, Susan Dixon. Standing: Janet Cornwell, David Barnes, Stan Greenberg, Carol Yaggy.

Service, Proficiency-Dual Aim of Library Club

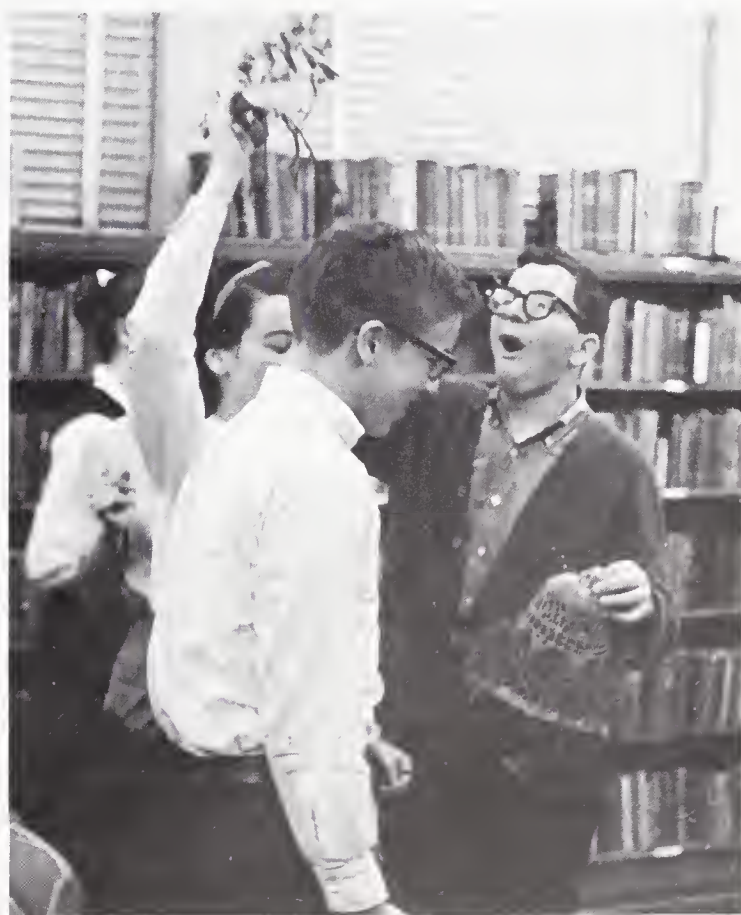

"Books are the key to knowledge" is the guide of the Library Club. Only student library assistants are able to join this organization, which enables them to learn more about the library and audio-visual aids.

During the school year, the club sold paperback books and kept up-to-date bulletin boards outside the library. During Christmas they decorated the library and provided festive music.

At the State Convention where the library club members competed for state and district offices, Louise Hale was elected secretary for the East Central District, and Anne Brannon was chosen as a reporter. Also the Library Club's scrapbook won second place in its division in state competition.

Officers: Pres. Angie Galloway, V.P. Laurie Keller, Sec. Barbara Dunlap, Treas. Christine Ewing.

Advisor: Mrs. Peacock.

NHS Accentuates the Well-Rounded Individual

The impossibilities of college application are untangled by the College Seminar speaker.

The National Honor Society creates enthusiasm for scholarship, stimulates desire to render service, and encourages development of character. In choosing prospective members, the Society recognizes the following qualities: character, scholarship, leadership, and service, demonstrated over the four years of high school. The faculty selects ten percent of the junior class and fifteen percent of the senior class to be tapped into the society.

The National Honor Society members spent a week in November going to each homeroom to inform all students about the functions of the Honor Society as well as the method of selection. Among other projects, they had a College Seminar Day as an aid to high school students in choosing a college. In the all day affair, students attended sessions about colleges that interested them.

Officers: Pres. George Penick, V.P. Donnie Carroll, Sec.-Treas. Brenda Hayes.

Advisor: Miss Wilkin.

Organization is the key note in George Penick's talk to NHS members.

Spanish Honor Society Discerns Language Mastery

The Spanish Honor Society is composed of students who have made either an A in Spanish I or a B in Spanish II. The Society meets every sixth Thursday in the home of a member. At the meetings, high school students who have traveled to other countries come and tell of their experiences.

In the fall the whole Society went to a movie concerning Spain. A week before mid-year exams the organization held a study hall for Spanish I students. The induction of new members was held in the spring during homeroom period.

The motto for the society is Todos a una (All for one).

AFS Club Furthers Amity through Italian Exchange

Exchange student Eugenio Caterina consults Cindy Poole about an issue of the Proconian.

The American Field Service Club strives to make the exchange student feel welcome and to aid him whenever possible. In addition, the club corresponds with the current Chapel Hill exchange student abroad.

During the past year, they held an International Dinner to which each club member brought food from another country. There was also a "big brother-big sister" plan initiated in which interested students served as hosts or hostesses to the AFS exchange student for a week.

This year Eugenio Caterina from Milan, Italy, was CHSHS's exchange student; he lived with Bucky Barnett. Francie Ellis from Chapel Hill spent the year with her AFS family in Reggio Emilia, Italy.

Officers: Pres. Barbara Beebe, V. P. Elinor Allcott, Sec. -Treas. Lienne Deshaies.

Advisor: Mrs. Sullivan.

The showing of slides and films, discussions, and games in French highlight the French Clubs. Any student may join Le Cercle Francais or the French II and III Club if he has had one year of French. Students who have had four or five years of French are qualified to join Le Nouveau Cercle Francais. These two organizations provide an opportunity outside the classroom to speak French and to become better acquainted with French customs and ideas.

Officers: Le Cercle Francais: Pres. Sandra Farrington, V. P. Meredith Alden, Sec. Patricia Farrington. Le Cercle Nouveau Francais: None.
Advisors: Mrs. Stannett and Mrs. Arndt.

"Latin is a living language" or so it may seem in the Latin Club. It is a newly formed organization that studies the classics and spreads Latin to all corners of CHSHS. A "Latin Week," held the week after the Christmas vacation, emphasized the Latin language. This week was highlighted by a slave auction. Other activities included Eugenio Caterina talking during one club period about Italy and the writing of a satire on "West Side Story" as it might have taken place in Rome.

Aspects of Typical Spaniard Engage Spanish Clubs

The Spanish language, people, and countries engage the interest of the Spanish Clubs. The newly formed Spanish I Club specialized in dishes from Spanish countries, speakers, dances, and learning about the history of Spain. The Spanish II Club backed its motto of service in its many projects: collecting canned food for a worthy family at Thanksgiving and teaching English to Spanish speaking people in Chapel Hill throughout the year.

Officers: Spanish I: Pres. Cathy Neilson, V.P. Debbie Simmons, Sec. Sally Otts. Spanish II: Pres. Lynn Shytle, V. P. Barbara Black, Sec. Susan Sherwood, Treas. Cheryle Jernigan.

Preparation for the '66 Hilllife began in the spring of '65 when the editors and advisor selected the staff of photographers; class, business, features, sports, activities, academics, and index editors. The editors contacted Hunter Publishing Company and drew up a contract for the '66 Hilllife. During the summer the staff learned the mechanics of composing their sections. The start of school brought all the staff together for final briefing. Lay-outs were due October 15; the Hunter lay-out artist came at the end of October and the typesize, kind of paper, and the cover were finally settled. Next came the question of the theme and the Hilllife staff chose "People." At a later time the beauty court was chosen. Before anyone knew it, Christmas had come and the final rush was on. January 15 rolled around and the glazen-eyed Hilllife staff turned in all their copy. During the next frantic month, copy was corrected and re-corrected as pictures were re-taken, re-developed, and re-printed. Finally assorted lay-outs, pictures, and copy were organized and on February 15, the Hilllife was off to press. At the end of May, all the Hilllives returned, ready to be signed at the Annual Signing party.

Endeavoring to "develop leaders through marketing and distribution," the DE Club is an extension of the DE program. Students work for at least fifteen hours a week in local stores as well as gain classroom instruction.

At Christmas the club gave twenty-five dollars to the Baptist Orphanage for two boys. They also presented the janitors a gift. On February 9, the DE Club's annual "Bosses' Banquet" was held for all the DE students and their bosses. Throughout the year they collected toys that were in turn donated to the hospital.

This spring the organization won the Sears and Roebuck 3-Star Award. Jo Anne Sparrow received the district first place for "job interview" and George Penick secured the district and state "Student of the Year."

The familiar theme of "Ins and Outs" tunes in as Tom Calmeyer and Karen Jurgensen begin the show.

"All the news that fits, we print" is the prevailing thought of CHSHS' student newspaper, the Proconian. Through bi-monthly issues the paper chronicles all aspects of student life - individual as well as school concerns. Generally liberal in opinion, the Proconian has a prominent and persuasive voice in all student activities. It offers the staff a rich journalistic experience.

An hour journalism class every day provided the training ground for prospective members. They assembled the newspaper during this regular class time and during after-school hours. Journalism students also formulated CHSHS's weekly radio show, "Ins and Outs."

The Proconian again this year upheld its reputation of a superior newspaper. Highly lauded by the North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute with six first places and numerous other awards, it also received a first class honor rating from the Southern Interscholastic Press Association for the '64-'65 year and two All-American ratings for the two semesters from the National Scholastic Press Association.

The abundance of argumentative talent in CHSHS resulted in the organization of a Debate Club. The club provides a means by which interested students can learn the fundamentals of organized debating; for this purpose practice debates on varied topics are developed. With the re-instatement of a school band came a revived interest in group instrumental music. All interested students must have had instruction on some instrument before joining the band. SPORTS

The members of a team and the coach are drawn together by a desire to succeed, and on these people alone does the success depend. The teams, though, are aided in their desire by the support and interest of the student body. In this way we all need each other — the student body depends upon the team and the members of the squad draw strength from the backing of the students. Athletic events are one great factor in uniting the students into one group at CHSHS.

'Cats Disappointed, but Never Lose Wildcat Spirit

The 1965 football Wildcats found out how hard it is to remain champions as they were able to emerge victorious from only two games. Losing six and tying two, they placed fourth in the conference standings.

After a poor beginning characterized particularly by a lack of offensive consistency, the 'Cats played as a unit in their last five games. Starting with the Homecoming victory over Henderson, the gridders constantly improved until, at the end of the season, they were among the strongest teams in the conference.

Linemen playing regularly both offensively and defensively were Arthur Dockery, Charlie Brickhouse, and Donnie Carroll. Among the other linemen seeing frequent action were Phil Walker, William Harrell, Dave Harrison, Charles Flowers, and Jack Allison. Those who bolstered the defense included Steve Laughey, Bill Spransy, and David Atwater, while two fine defensive tackles, George McReynolds and David Taylor, came in mid-season. The backfield was lead by Graham Burch, Eddie Skakle, Jaime Jordan, and three-year letterman, Pat Thompson. Others included Eddie Durham, Bynie Riggsbee, Johnny Riggsbee, Mike Preston, and Rodney McFarling.

Inconsistency Causes Slow Start for '65 Wildcats

Managers Brit Nicholson and Pete Sommerfeld assume familiar pose.

The opening game of the season was disappointing to all Wildcats attending. Fayetteville, a power in the 4-A ranks, was able to rush almost at will on the hapless 'Cats, amassing a total of 249 yards. The only Chapel Hill score came on a 15 yard pass from Mike Preston to Rodney McFarling. The only other threat by the 'Cats came shortly before intermission, when they drove to the Bulldog 15 yard line only to give up the ball on downs.

Despite the 20-0 score, the Wildcats played a fine defensive game against Waynesville's Mountaineers in the next clash at Waynesville. After allowing a score in the first period, the defensive team held until the fourth quarter. Late in the game, the Mounties were able to capitalize on two interceptions for scores, one runback occurring with only fourteen seconds left in the game. Once again the lack of a working offense proved fatal to Chapel Hill, as their deepest penetration was only to the 35 yard line.

In the first home encounter of the year, early Western Alamance scores stunned the CHSHS forces in what turned out to be a 21-0 defeat. After a shining game the week before, the defense gave up 248 yards while the offense gained a meager 250 yards.

New Attitude Sparks Chapel Hill to Victory

During the following week of practice, Coach Culton worked with the team on a new offensive set-up. Employing both the T and I formations, he hoped to give new life to his squad and surprise the first conference opponent, Oxford. The shake-up was at least partially effective, for the 'Cats were at times able to move well on the Red Devils from Granville County. Despite all efforts, the game ended in a 12-12 tie. The defense also did a good job of stopping two late Oxford threats which would have meant defeat for the Wildcats. Pat Thompson scored on a sneak and Eddie Durham broke into pay-dirt from eight yards out to account for CHSHS scores.

The next week the Wildcats felt sure of a victory over Jordan, a team with a record even less impressive than their own. This sureness turned into over-confidence, and Jordan passed their way to a 12-7 win. Graham Burch ran back a second half kick off for 80 yards, and Eddie Skakle added the extra point for Chapel Hill's only score in the game that marked the low point of the season.

QUARTERBACKS: Preston and Thompson.

After the embarrassing defeat at the hands of Jordan, the Wildcats took on something of a new attitude that prevailed throughout the remainder of the season. Even though the game resulted in a 26-13 loss, the 'Cats looked like a new team. They played as well or better than the Roxboro Rockets, but three intercepted passes foiled their hopes for a win. Eddie Skakle scored a fourth period touchdown after an 86-yard march and Eddie Durham converted.

The week of October 22 marked Homecoming for the alumni and the Wildcats and was significant to both. The date indicated the first victory of the season as the 'Cats completely overpowered Henderson by a score of 33-14. Skakle, Thompson, and McFarling each scored his second touchdown of the year; Charlie Brickhouse scored on a fumble recovery, and Bynie Riggsbee tallied on a 21 yard run. In addition, the entire team played an outstanding "ball control" game.

With the year fast drawing to a close, the Wildcats began preparing for the traditional cross-county skirmish against Hillsborough, one of the top rated teams in the district. Despite an excellent opportunity to score that was fumbled away in the waning minutes of the game, the Chapel Hillians played well enough to notch a 0-0 tie.

Southern was the next team to play Chapel Hill. This was the second game in which the Wildcats were able to "break loose," winning the hard-hitting game 20-0. The defense was outstanding, holding Southern's Rebels to only one threatening drive.

Northern, already conference champions before playing the 'Cats, scored all the points they needed in the first period. The Knight defense kept CHSHS from scoring and enabled them to take a 9-0 win.

JV's End Season With Three Wins, Three Losses

This year's junior varsity football team showed a definite improvement over those of previous years. The team, the third in the recent history of the school, was the first to break into the "win" column.

All that the JV's needed was a little experience, for after dropping the first three games by narrow margins, they produced three straight victories, bringing the year's total to three wins, three losses.

Chapel Hill began the season by losing the opener to Garner 6-0 in a hard-fought, defensive battle. Next, the JV's were defeated two more times—by Jordan, 13-7, and by Southern of Durham, 12-7. The Cat Babies, however, bounced back to chalk up victories over Northern, 21-20; Jordan, 14-7; and Western Alamance, 28-7. Winning touchdowns were scored by Lee Sloan and Barnes Cotton, two running backs.

Other outstanding sophomores on the JV squad included Mike Earey, who led the team as its quarterback, and David Taylor, a tackle, who was moved to the varsity halfway through the season.

The '65-'66 Cat Babies sported a 2-6 record half way through the season, but promised to improve as the year went on. Coached by Mr. Gerry Tertzagin and paced by regulars, Arnold Ferguson, Tom Merritt, and Rodney McFarling, the sophomores won their second and sixth games, defeating Sanford and Jordan, 54-42 and 37-32, respectively. The remainder of the early season games were dropped to junior varsity teams from such schools as Cary, Roxboro, Southern, and Orange of Hillsborough.

Other sophomores who rounded out the JV team included forwards, Bill Rogers, Barry Merritt, Billy Hackney, and Hamlin Andrews; guards, Alwin Hogan, Johnny Riggsbee, Pete Blackburn, and Ronald Weaver. Pete Sommerfeld shared the starting center position with Arnold Ferguson.

Wildcats Look Good as New Talent Rises to Top

Trying to equal or better last year's rating of fourth in the state with only one starter returning, the Wildcats' pre-season chances for success looked slim. Coach Bob Culton commented before the season opened that this would be a rebuilding year for the Wildcats. However, with the help of starters Mike Earey, Graham Burch, Eddie Skakle, Phil Walker, and Pat Thompson, Chapel Hill was still determined to make a strong bid for the conference title decided in March.

Pat Thompson, a senior forward who averaged 24 points in the first half of the season, led the Wildcats and promised to be one of the best players in the district. The other big scorer for Chapel Hill was sophomore Mike Earey, a 6'5" center whose scoring and rebounding were invaluable to the Wildcats. Forward Phil Walker and guards, Eddie Skakle and Graham Burch, completed the starting line-up with good ball-handling and defensive play. Other Wildcats who saw action included returning lettermen, Donnie Carroll, Eddie Durham, and Tom Sommerfeld; juniors, Paul Dyer, Paul Meredith, and Louis Crittenden; sophomores, Lee Sloan and Mike Preston.

GUARDS: Sloan, Preston, Durham, Meredith, Burch.

The 1965-66 varsity basketball squad opened their season with a loss to Cary. This loss crushed some of Chapel Hill's hopes, for the disappointing showing of the Wildcats indicated a poor season ahead.

The next night, however, Chapel Hill defeated the 1957 Chapel Hill High School team, which went into the state tournament undefeated in twenty-three games. The purpose of the game was the formal presentation of the Frank Weaver Memorial Award, presented annually in memory of Frank Weaver by his 1957 Chapel Hill High School teammates. The award pays tribute to any basketball player who measures up to the late Frank Weaver's sportsmanship, integrity, and athletic ability.

In Chapel Hill's second game with Cary, the Wildcats looked much improved as they rolled by the White Imps, 59-49. Led by Pat Thompson with 32 points, they then defeated Sanford, 85-62, and went on to win three more in succession, beating Roxboro, 66-52, J.F. Webb of Oxford, 68-51, and Sanford again, 48-42. The squad then lost their first game in conference competition, losing to Jordan by 62-41, as the Wildcats lacked some of the teamwork that carried them through the early season victories. With a good team and an early season record of 5-2, Chapel Hill looked forward to being one of the top teams in the conference.

The only 3-A swimming team in the state, the 1966 Catfish were forced to swim against large 4-A schools. The team also met with the UNC freshman team, and good showings were made by co-captains George Adkins and Louis Perlmutter.

Holding practice each morning at 6:45 under the direction of Mr. Wyatt and Coach Bill Ferrell, the Catfish prepared themselves for the few meets that could be arranged. They also worked toward the state meet held in Chapel Hill in early March. Adding to the success of the team were Brit Nicholson, Sandy McMahon, Gordon Kage, Dennis Melton, and Duane Rominger.

Golf and Tennis Teams Show Great Potential

This year's golf team was the best in the three-year history of golf at Chapel Hill Senior High School. Golf is CHSHS's only minor sport in which every conference team participates.

Other school's in the conference were hurt badly by the loss of valuable seniors, but CHSHS lost only two; and returning lettermen included Bruce Ripperton and Paul Dyer. While more support was added by seniors Tom Brown, Bland Simpson, and Mark Phialas, the squad also relied on sophomore talent.

The golf team was not the only team hampered by the loss of seniors. The 1966 tennis team relied on the potential of Jaime Jordan, Vic MacIntosh, and Pat Thompson.

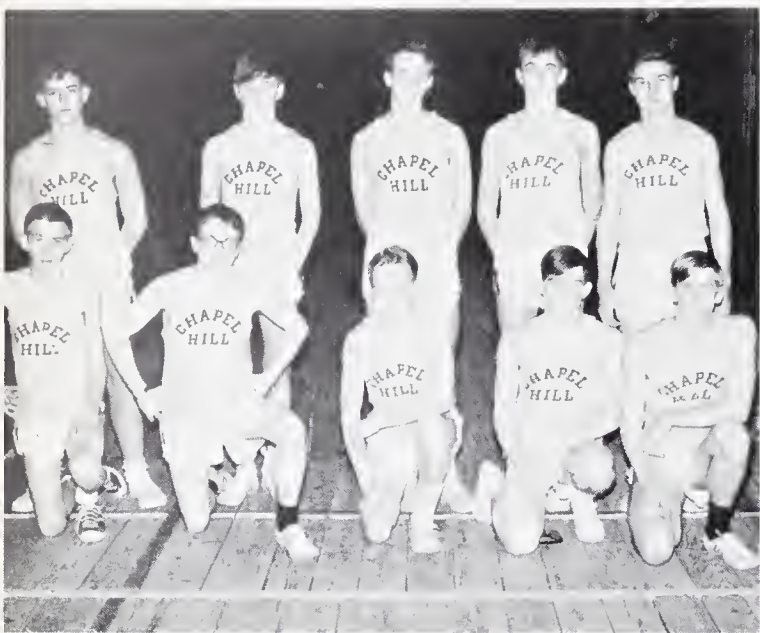

Playing against such teams as Graham, Jordan, and Page, this year's netters hoped to better last season's record of 3-2 and to make a good showing in the state tournament in June.

KNEELING: Fitch, Coe, Harward, Watson. STANDING: Hogan, Woodard, Dyer, Ripperton, Simpson.

KNEELING: Jordan, MacIntosh, STANDING: G. Penick, W. Penick, White, Hobson, Stambaugh.

DISTANCE RUNNERS: KNEELING: Holloway, Carson, Colwell, Carter, Kachergis. STANDING: Wallace, Harward, Stewart, Huff, Evans.

FIELD EVENTS: KNEELING: Taylor, Chrietzberg, Flowers, Vickers, Sommerfeld. STANDING: Petch, Wood, Riggsbee, Senter, Burton.

SPRINTERS: Vickers, Mallard, Price, Douglass, Rogers, Wilkerson.

In 1966, the Chapel Hill Senior High School cindermen again showed similar class to that which won them the District Championship and third place ranking in the state last year. The team was characterized by the long hours of devoted practice and hard work through the cross country season, the cold nights indoors at the Tin Can, and finally the all-important spring practice. Coach Bob Hart, himself an active participant in track, led his thinclads to another strong finish by drilling, instructing, and running with them through the year; his own devotion to the team was largely responsible for its success.

High Honors Follow Cindermen Through '66 Season

Even though there were many losses from the championship team of 1965, there were also several experienced returnees and promising newcomers in nearly all events.

The field events were headed by co-captain Billy Wood, who put the shot and threw the discus along with seniors, Charles Flowers and Buddy Chrietzberg, and sophomore, David Taylor. The high jump and broad jump events were in the hands of returning lettermen, Lance Peacock, Stanley Vickers, and Tom Sommerfeld. Bynie Riggsbee and Peter Petch were the pole vaulters.

The sprinters, suffering heavily from graduation, came through with veterans, Earl Douglass, Jack Allison, Steve Adams, and Pat Thompson. Newcomers, Kenny Rogers and Harold Burton, came along well to strengthen the sprinter's ranks.

The heart of the team proved to be in the distance events where a quintet of outstanding seniors left their marks for the third consecutive year. Co-captain Peter Kachergis teamed with Ed Carson, Paul Evans, Ronnie Hugg, and Colin Stewart to form one of the most consistent point-making machines in the state.

Chapel Hill lines up with other schools at start of state meet.

Behind the fine leadership of Coach Bob Hart and co-captains, Ed Carson and Peter Kachergis, the 1966 cross country team was undefeated in the regular season competition. They placed fourth in the state cross country meet held at Chapel Hill's Finley Golf Course.

Running for the most part against large 4-A schools such as New Hanover of Wilmington, Fayetteville, East Mecklenberg, Grimsley of Greensboro, and Durham, the harriers proved their ability by winning most of their eight meets by large margins. Always finishing in or near the front were Peter Kachergis, Ed Carson, and Paul Evans, who finished tenth in the state meet. Additional team support was offered by Colin Stewart, Steve Colwell, Ronnie Huff, Tim Merritt, and Chuck Holloway.

Expecting to be seriously hurt by the loss of this year's seniors, next year's cross country team will find itself with only one returning letterman, Steve Colwell, but with the tremendous amount of work which is always required, another good year can be expected.

Harriers, Earl Douglass and Tim Merritt, help build overwhelming lead over a 4-A opponent.

Baseball Team Successfully Ends Athletic Year

Bob Ward bangs out a double against Southern.

After losing the majority of the players who were responsible for the excellent showings of the past three years, the Wildcat's baseballers were faced with a year of rebuilding the strength shown in the past.

Paced by only four returnees, the new team was forced to gain experience early in the season. Graham Burch and Phil Walker, team co-captains, both pitched and played the infield. Eddie Skakle and Bob Ward contributed their services as infielders, and Skakle also pitched.

This small, four man nucleus carried the bulk of the burden as the many newcomers on the squad gained valuable experience.

Experience and Ability Combine to Bring

The '66 Kittens of Chapel Hill Senior High School showed spirit and intense desire to win this season. Coached by Mrs. Charlene Madonna, the girls displayed good sportsmanship and fair play in all games. Off to a better start than in previous years, the Kittens lost to Cary in the opening game 36-28, but came back to defeat the White Imps in their second game by a score of 30-27. The third game of the season, against Roxboro, saw the Kittens lose by one point, 24-23, in the final minute of play. In the girl's next game, they led Webb throughout the game and defeated them 31-21.

This year's team, composed of nine seniors, three juniors, and four sophomores, showed more experience than in previous seasons. The girls' spirit, unity, and willingness to work together made the team an exceptionally well-rounded one.

The forwards exercised both speed and accuracy; free throws decided the games in many instances. The guards also displayed speed and vigor in defense for the Kittens, pulling down vital rebounds and breaking up the offensive plays of the opponent. These and many other factors contributed to the success of the Kittens in the 1965-1966 season.

Through good times and bad, this year's squad of cheerleaders, under the direction of Mary Sitterson, showed unfailing pep and spirit. On the football field as well as the basketball court, they united the student body in support of the athletic teams.

Chosen in the late spring, the cheerleaders practiced throughout the summer in preparation for the coming year. During the actual season, they kept the students aware of athletic events by posters, banners, bulletin boards, and announcements. For the away games, the cheerleaders provided student busses and maps showing the location of the schools; the squad also decorated the ball park before each home football game.

Each cheerleader showed school spirit and good sportsmanship, thus unifying the students at Chapel Hill Senior High School and their outside supporters.

SCHOOL LIFE

School life can be everyday things, but more than this, it is the special events. The activities, projects, and other happenings, which are a break in the regular routine, have a definite place in our high school life. There are many sides to this life in which education, responsibility, and enjoyment all have equal standing.

The Chapel Hill Senior High School Beauty Court became more selective this year as only five girls were picked from a field of twelve. The Hilllife staff selected four girls from each class early in the fall. The pictures of these girls were then sent to a celebrity who chose a Queen, a Maid of Honor, and a representative from each class.

Henderson Defeat Paces Successful '65 Homecoming

The Student Council made Homecoming this year a very special event by adding other festivities to the traditional happenings. One of the additions was a barbecue supper held before the game for Wildcat fans.

From this supper, students and alumni traveled to Lions Park to see the Wildcats defeat the Bulldogs of Henderson 33-14 in their first win of the season. The queens were crowned during half-time as the Band entertained the crowd with songs from "The Sound of Music."

After the game, a dance honoring the victorious players and the returning alumni was held at the gym. Here Jim Heavner, from WCHL radio station, introduced the queens, the football players, and their dates.

Jrs. Bring "Land of Oz" to CHSHS

Weeks of planning, ordering supplies, making center piece designs, chopping trees, and painting murals all culminated on May 17th in the 1965 Junior-Senior, "The Land of Oz."

At the banquet sophomore servants, dressed as farmers and milkmaids, waited on the juniors and seniors, feasting on "Land of Oz" specialties. Music at the banquet was provided by Tom West and Charles Flowers.

Following the banquet, the juniors and seniors were ushered through the tornado tunnel into a colorfully decorated "Land of Oz." The upper classmen strolled down the famous yellow brick road; visited the Good Queen of the East, the Land of Munchkins, and the Wicked Witch of the West; refreshed themselves in Oz's Emerald City palace; and became four-hour subjects of the Wizard of Oz.

Dances Add Variety to CHSHSers School Life

Although CHSHSers were no longer able to go to the "Catskellar," after game dances were held at Umstead Center. Local combos provided the music for these Friday night dances.

As a fund-raising project, the sophomores sponsored the Sweetheart Ball on February 12. The week preceding the dance, classes voted on girls to represent them on the Sweetheart Court. The candidates were sophomores, Georgia Arend and Beth Perry; juniors, Connie Jones and Denise Williams; and seniors, Susan Sherwood and Martha Taylor. Pat Thompson, basketball co-captain, crowned Susan Sherwood Queen while Martha Taylor was announced Maid of Honor. This Valentine's dance featured the "Shackles" combo.

Projects Assure Budgets

Much of a CHSHSer's time involves participation in projects. To open the year, the SCA sponsored Orientation for all sophomores and new students. Other SCA projects that followed were a barbecue and Homecoming, a clean-up day, and various other service projects.

The sophomore class held numerous bake sales to bolster their treasury, and both the juniors and sophomores turned salesmen with their calendars and stationery. The juniors, in addition to the sale of calendars, sponsored a powder-puff football game and Junior Follies. There was much more earnestness in their money-making efforts, for their Junior-Senior was in the near future.

for Future Class Activities

Projects which did not involve monetary gain were plentiful also. The National Honor Society contacted representatives from twenty-four colleges to speak at a College Seminar as a service to the students who were in doubt as to which school to attend after graduation. The Hispanic Honor Society members held a study hall for Spanish students before mid-term exams, and the SCA collected food for needy families at Thanksgiving.

Among the projects of various clubs were a Chorus hootenanny, a Proconian hanger drive, and a Latin slave auction. All projects created an enthusiastic following and became an integral part of CHSHS school life.

The 1966 HILLIFE staff would like to thank Mr. Ed Goldston, the Hunter representative, for his helpfulness; Miss Davis, Mrs. Kendrick, Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Horn, and Miss Baynes, for their work with us; Mr. William Harrison at Foister's for his professional service; and the Cadmuses, for the use of their photographic equipment.

As pictured above, Chapel Hill Senior High School is becoming a building. Next September when its halls fill with students for the first time, it will attain an identity, but the changing of the building will not alter the school personality. Rather, CHSHSers will carry with them the traditions, everyday life, responsibilities, and even some of the problems of before. However, with the improvement of school facilities, the people of Chapel Hill Senior High School will have a greater opportunity to fulfill their education.

Dear Carl,
It sure seems funny that in a little while I'll have to say goodbye to you and maybe not see you for years.
I get all misty-eyed when I think of it (you know me - confirmed old sentimentalist!)

We've had fun this year. Thanks for taking me to the square dance that night. I really had a great time. And I sure am glad you were up & ready the morning (6 a.m.!) of Pancake Day. Angie & I were afraid we'd have to climb on the roof to get you out of bed!
I hope I get to see you
"new" house before I leave - it's gonna be beautiful.
Good luck always. Carl

You're a great guy I've always liked, and I know you'll do well at whatever you do.

Love you always,

Barbara

(And watch out ~~for~~ which initials you use in my name!)

Hi Carl,
How about that physics class
and Mr. Wyatt's and cross word puzzles!
they are great especially when we finished one with combined efforts -

We ought to frame the one or two we did. Did you get as well as I did at the picnic? Write to me next year when you get a time - for chance.

Bye now,
Pattie
Did you know that I taught your little mother in swimming?

Carl
Enjoyed Teaching
You this year. I hope that you have enjoyed taking physics. Lots of Luck in the future.

Why hi There!

In kind, courteous
reverent, obedient, thrifty clean, etc! Oh well, I enjoyed ignoring you in the hall. You were a great (Ha!) senior! I'm sorry you're leaving but I hope I'll see you again!
Sophomore year was great for me because all of the seniors made it great. Be good, behave yourself.

See ya

Carl, another one of those "fabulous"
seniors we are losing.
What is it going to be like without all you have for next year and good luck. JAL

Carl

This has really been a wonderful wonderful year. Being my first and only one at CHSHS I love it all the more.
We've had some great times, haven't we?
Remember Miss Lewis and World Lit?
Remember Mrs. Sommerfeld and Math I?
Who could forget such unique classes?

I have been teased a lot by all, but that made my days more interesting.
You always seemed rather a - shall I say - quiet intellectual? Never too many or too much in the way of words.

I value your friendship and I hope we won't lose touch since we're going to the same college. It will be nice to know someone in theushman class.

Best of luck to a deserving person,

Love,

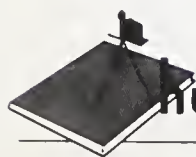

Jeddy, [PO]

Dear Carl -

I'm so glad you're starting your new school. I'm sure you'll love it. You're really been a good sport about putting up with me - mostly; not every two understand as I am! I guess my constantly talking with Beverly in English got on your nerves a couple of times - but you know the way it is in that class you have to do something to stay awake in that class (don't get the idea that I'm insinuating) that good old Mrs. Lewis is being for that she mumbled!) I would you like Math II this year with all the Friday parties - Math II students never had it so good! It's hard to believe that ~~the~~ senior year and all the unusual things we've experienced under Mrs. Lewis are rapidly coming to an end - but we're still ahead! I'm then about your being out there in (Craze!) I'm not too excited about being in Winston (but at least I'm in it!) I really hope to see Sorry about that - now this summer & next year at Carolina (we Chapel Hill folks should stick together!!). Be a good kid and best of luck take up Carl Love,

Dillon

Carl,

I'm glad I got to know you a little better this year, and I hope to see you again in the near future.

I guess this has been a pretty good year, but I'm glad it's over. If you need a ride home any time, just say so.

Carl,
This has been a good year!
I wish you have best of luck always. > think you should go back to Funge, sometime.
If so we'll surely see each other.
Have fun this summer

Funge

Carl,
English class wouldn't it have been complete this year without you behind me to push me, and batter me the whole period.

Being seniors sure has been fun, isn't it? We can get away with just about anything. I'll have to admit that you're one up on me though. Being only a lovely math IV student, I missed out on Friday parties. Our class never got to be first in basketball game attendance either!
Good luck and have fun at Carolina next year.

Beverly

Carl (babes?) that was some game between U.N.C. and Duke, huh? And it was fun during half time too!
Anyway, it's been wonderful.
Be good - Judo

Bondie!
Keep up the good work on the Pro-mideant team! (Yato in words)
Get it, Gotta get it!

Carl
 Our life at CHHS is almost over. It really has been great. Remember all the fun we've had and all the world lit assignments we never did. Best of luck to a great guy -

Carl
 I will miss about time for you to go. It's been fun to know you and I hope you see you
 in your college years
 long live the club!
 for you
 Carl!

HANG TEN!

Carl, as a fellow surfer,
 I will even let you be pres. of the original surfer club. Suzanne can be V-P; I'll be Sec-Treas. (OK?)
 You're really a great guy, Carl and getting to know you has been wonderful. (I can't write with mark writing at the same time!) Carl, I hope to see you branches next year. Just think
 NO MORE Mrs
 Peacock after 3 days. Yeah
 Love to you, Linda

Dear Carl,

I can't believe you and all the rest of the seniors won't be here next year - it won't seem like the same school.
I hope you've had as wonderful a year as I have - and I hope you had as great a time at the Spring Dance as I did.

Best wishes to one of my favorite people. I hope you'll like going to Caroline.
I'm sure you will - Thanks for teaching me just about all I know about photography.

Love,
Linda

Dear Carl,
Will miss you all next year.
Will miss your cheery smile especially you're someone that has many talents and I'm sure they will bring you success. Best wishes, graduate
